Foreword

A long and hard year is coming to an end. Students have investigated several aspects of the Marplatense and Argentinean culture. This is how they produce rich investigative works on movies, tourism, sports and about the very same school where they are studying and are part of its learning community. Lots of very interesting information come up, for example how difficult is to become an Illia student, when Aldosivi and Peñarol, icons in Soccer and basketball respectively, were founded, or where to go if you visit Mar del Plata.

This year has also become in a turning point for the BOW workshop, a.k.a BOWshop. A lot of novelties are being prepared for 2013 and new challenges are going to defy new students. Meanwhile, you are invited to sit comfortably and enjoy this issue.

School Story

By Micaela Mateo Y Lucia Palomeque

School is a place where you study and learn new things that prepares people for the university and jobs. The school is an institution for educating persons.

Among the many schools that are in Mar del Plata, public and private, Illia High School is a special case: Illia School is the only high school that depends on the National University (UNMDP). But this is not the only aspect that makes Illia School a special case, for example:

The professors have to be graduated of the National University.

There are workshops that are optional (because you can choose which you want to do and the subject) and obligatory (because you must choose one or more) at the same time.

You must sit for six examinations to enter the school.

When you finish the school, in 6^o year, you have direct enter to any university

It is a sort of privilege to be admitted at Illia as a student. Now, here are this article writers' experiences at the moment of choosing Illia School:

-Micaela: "My parents didn't like my last school, so they talk to me about the Illia School, and Stella Maris School. At first, I didn't like this school, but I didn't want to study at the Stella Maris, so I passed the six examinations, and I was admitted at Illia School."

-Lucia: "I didn't like the Nuestra Señora del Camino School, so my parents went to Illia meeting for future students. Then, they gave me two choices: the Escuela de Educación Media n^o 2 or Illia School (or if I wanted, I could continue in the Nuestra Señora del Camino High School), but when I read the brochure I decided to study at Illia School. So I was admitade in the Illia School.

The Interview

Interview to Professor Everardo Luna, the headmaster

Q: Which Universities do you have a direct access to with Illia High School Certification?

A: Only to the National University of Mar del Plata.

Q: Which changes has Illia High School have since 1984?

A: - The building
The education program

Q: Have there been other Illia High School premises? Why did the school change the building?

A: Yes, the first year the school was in the University Complex.

The premises were changed because the building that was rented was dreadful.

Q: Are there any plans which are being considered to carry on in the school?

A: Yes, it would like to do a gym.

Q: Why did the school decide to create the Students' Center? And why the Parents' Club?

A: Because the CENI (Students' Center) is the students' voice. And the Parents' Club serves like a support for the students. The CENI and the Parents Club, were created with the school.

The first images that the school gives when pedestrians and drivers pass through are the imposing building with a beautiful park and many students talking, shouting, laughing, playing football, basketball and volleyball; or simply walking up the flight of stairs that lead to the main entrance. The school has many trees, plants and shrubs in the park. Outside school, there are:

- Two entrances: a ramp for disabled people; and the stairs.
- In the top of the principal entrance, a sign that says “Universidad Nacional de Mar del Plata – COLEGIO DR. A. U. ILLIA”
- In the front of the school so many windows of the classrooms.
- In the side:
 - Right: you can see two football fields and part of the schoolyard.
 - Left: you can see the basketball court and the other part of the schoolyard.

The school façade with the flight of stairs and the ramp for disabled people

Getting into the school premises, the entrance hall leads into the stairs to the 1st floor and the doors that take to the park. To the right, it can be seen the tutor room. On the left, it can be seen a corridor that takes to the classrooms, the laboratory, the bathrooms and another tutor room. Then, that corridor turns to the right and there are more classrooms, two music rooms, another stairs that leads to the 1st floor, a third tutor room. The corridor turns to the right again, and reaches the buffet. Now continues the corridor to the photocopier; to the left, there are the CENI room, another bathrooms, the parents club, the artistic room; and there are a stairs that takes you to the library. To the right there are another door, that takes you to the park.

The school is next to a very important and old building of the city known as the House over the Brook.

Illia High School can be considered not only a school, but a very important part of students’ lives.

Peñarol comes from Mar del Plata. It was founded on November 7th. 1922 and its name was suggested by Francisco Silban because there was a club with the same name in Uruguay (Peñarol is a football club. It still exists and is one of the most important clubs from America). Peñarol has a long history which makes it one of the most successful clubs in Argentina. This club has a classic rival that is Quilmes. Both clubs have lots of fans and their number increases day by day.

As important as Peñarol is for basketball, in Mar del Plata there is a soccer team whose strongest popular support can be found in the port. It is Aldosivi, one of the clubs with the largest number of supporters in the city. Its rich history also helps to increase its popularity. It was founded on March 29th 1913. Its foundation was due to some workers from the local port wanted to have a place for relaxing. Since its creation, the club has been growing up day by day until Aldosivi has becoming the important club that is now. This club has some rivals. The traditional rivalry is Talleres from Mar del Plata because both are located within same neighborhood, but (Talleres) is not a very popular club. The real antagonism is with Alvarado.

Since a long time ago, both (clubs) supporters have been quarreling with each others. This antagonism has produced acts of violence between both teams. Most times, police had to intervene to stop the fights.

Mar del Plata is a city where thousands of people live during the whole year. Most of them love either watching or practicing sports. They are the so called FANS, and they follow their teams everywhere they go to play.

The movies in their eyes

By Clarisa Noales and Agustina Foa

By the end of the XIXth century, the world could see itself reflected on a screen. Common people and laborers leaving the factory could have never thought they were doing history. Those laborers were giving the first steps to a new industry and a new form of art: the cinema.

This new technological advance spread all around the world reaching countries such as United States, Spain and Argentina. In this last one, it started in 1897.

The Argentinean cinema is one of the 3 most important cinemas in Latin America. It started with the documental 'La Bandera Argentina'¹ by Eugenio Py². After this first documentary several pictures were filmed: Some of these were 'Viaje - del Doctor Campos Salles - a Buenos Aires' (1900), and 'La Revista de la escuadra Argentina' (1901). As it can be seen, the first Argentinean films were always about Argentina history. The period of silent movie lasted for over 30 years and ended in 1931, when the sound changed this art forever.

The first movie sound were 'Adios Argentina' (1930) 'Muñequitas porteñas', and 'Tango'³ (1933) .But the first short movies with sound track were "Añoranzas" "Canchero", "El carretero", "Enfundà la mandolina", "Mano a mano"⁴, etc, with songs performed and some written by Carlos Gardel⁵. Gardel also worked in those movies like an actor.

Apart from Carlos Gardel, this period gave birth to an illustrious group of actors and actresses who shined in this art. Below these lines, there are the images of some of them:

Libertad Lamarque

Tita Merello

¹ A documentary about the Argentinean flag

² He was a French photographer and cine producer that lived in Buenos Aires.

³ 'Muñequitas porteñas' is about a woman who her dad batters her, so she leaves her house and her boyfriend, and then her boyfriend saves her; 'tango' is about a man who sings tango, and he felt in love with a woman who does not like him, then he went to Paris to find her.

⁴ Movies were filmed in '30s,

⁵ Carlos Gardel was a singer, composer and an actor. People say that he has been the best tango singer ever

Pepe Arias

Luis Sandrini

This period was marked by great comedies, but slowly it was becoming a little more realistic and national identity. The Argentinean cinema industry lived a real golden age. The pinnacle came in 1942, making around 42 movies annually. Then the movies became the result of mixing visual and sound.

By 1955, the Argentinean movies changed forever. Politics and the arrival of color transformed its history forever; for many nostalgic people, the good old days were over forever.
